

Senators that his so-called threats to withdraw from NAFTA are just a negotiating tactic. Mr. Speaker, workers in Ohio will tell President Trump that too much is at stake in NAFTA renegotiations to be playing games and telegraphing empty threats.

I hope that the President's focus is on balancing our ballooning NAFTA trade deficit with Mexico and Canada, which just accumulates more red ink at astronomical levels of outsourced jobs. We need an agreement that stops job outsourcing, an agreement that creates a level playing field for workers and businesses alike. It should give farmers and laborers on this continent equal status and a living wage.

Among other protections for workers, I have called for a tri-party labor secretariat that will represent workers in all three NAFTA nations. NAFTA must address fair labor standards and robust enforcement of rules, including for agricultural labor, the largest segment of our tri-national workforce.

NAFTA renegotiation is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to create a continental compact to boost fair opportunity across North America. Let's not indulge in phony boardroom brinksmanship. Let's come together and put our communities and workers first.

AFFORDABLE CARE ACT OPEN ENROLLMENT SEASON

(Ms. JACKSON LEE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, before I start, I would like to express my sympathy and concern for those who lost their life in New York through an alleged terrorist act and to pray for their families.

Let me also make mention of the fact, Mr. Speaker, that tomorrow, November 1, begins the open enrollment. We know that this President has tried to sabotage the Affordable Care Act; but, in fact, you have until December 15. We believe that more than 12 million people will register.

This is a very important opportunity because, many times in the past, under the previous affordable healthcare structure, you wouldn't have this time to apply. But the Affordable Care Act is still the law of the land, and we should extend that law for everyone to be able to enroll.

Finally, let me thank the Texans for taking a knee in recognition of opposing language where football players were called inmates in a prison. I, frankly, believe I wanted to come to the floor to make that point. Later in the week, I will take a knee on this floor to acknowledge them.

Finally, I would like to indicate that I hope that there will be an apology coming from General Kelly for Congresswoman WILSON.

Finally, I want to be able to say something good, which is, Go Astros, the greatest team in the world. Go Astros.

Mr. Speaker, tomorrow, November 1, 2017 marks the beginning of the fifth "Open Enrollment Season" for the Affordable Care Act.

During open enrollment people can sign up for health insurance coverage for 2018.

Open season ends on December 15, 2017, so I encourage all Americans to act without delay to ensure that they and their loved ones are covered.

More than 12 million people nationwide have selected individual healthcare plans through federal and state marketplaces.

If you held individual or family health insurance, and we all do, now is the time to sign up.

Under the Affordable Care Act—more commonly known as "Obamacare"—you can sign up for health insurance on your state's health insurance exchange or individual marketplace but only during an annual open enrollment period that this year starts November 1 and will end on December 15.

The only other times you may purchase health insurance is following a "qualifying life event," such as getting married or divorced or having a baby.

If you buy health insurance through your workplace, your employer will inform you about its open enrollment period.

The following information is for people buying health insurance on their own.

If you are buying health insurance on your own, you have several options for purchasing a policy:

From your state's health insurance marketplace—check Healthcare.gov to find the market place for your state;

Directly from a health insurance company;

From websites like Insure.com that offers health insurance quotes from multiple carriers; or

From a health insurance agent.

We know the Trump Administration is attempting to sabotage enrollment during this year's shortened open enrollment period by cutting back on the outreach needed to inform the public about Open Enrollment Season.

The Center for American Progress estimates that under good-faith management of the marketplaces and the open enrollment process, 2018 marketplace enrollment would hold steady at about 12.2 million plan selections.

Unfortunately, the Trump Administration's repeated actions to destabilize insurance markets, repeal the ACA, and undermine open enrollment, threaten this progress and are designed to depress enrollment in 2018.

The President is creating uncertainty in the nation's health insurance marketplaces, which prior to January 20, 2017 were on track for continued growth in the number of people with health insurance.

This weekend, if you have health insurance take time to make sure that your relatives have enrolled.

The most important thing that Americans can do to preserve access to affordable health insurance is to enroll in a health care plan before the December 15, 2017 deadline.
